NEWS SUMMARY.

-Missouri is about to resume specie payment, and the principal and interest of all tate bonds will be paid in gold in July and h ereafter. —St. Louis proposes to run steamers direct rom that city to Eastern and European ports, a nd coal and pilots are offered free for an experimental trip. -A Western paper says that half the business of the courts in Illinois seems to be to satisfy the vengeance of women because they can't get the men to marry them, and the other half to enable women to get rid of men who have married them. -Gail Hamilton sent a note of regret to a silver wedding in Illinois in which she said: "When one has stayed married twenty-five years in Illinois, I suppose it is worth while to ring the bells over it! Pray consider that I touch the rope with none the less heartiness because I am hundreds of miles away." -The first two hundred Hansom cabs have with eighteen hundred more to be added as soon as pedestrians learn how cheap a luxury it is to ride in them. The cheap conveyances modelled after the Hansom, and already intro duced into Central Park, are said "to be pleas ing the public and coining money for their owners." The new company is a protes against hack extortion and the inconvenience of horse cars in crowded thoroughfares. -A correspondent of the New York Tribune, describing the dress worn by Madame Parepa Rosa at the Boston Jubilee on Tuesday, says "Imagine a white muslin skirt over white silk a white moire antique overdress trimmed with lace, a high bodice of the same, garnished on the shoulders and round the sleeves with red and white ribbon. fastened with alternate red and white buttons. A wonderful composition, but those buttons went straight to every patriot's heart, and whether they heard her or not, it made no difference." If this is a true description, the colors worn by that lady were red, white and red. We have certainly known the time when such colors "went straight" to very many patriotic hearts, but they did not beat in the bosoms of Tribune correspondents. There must be some mistake here. -A correspondent of the San Francisco Bul letin gives au amusing account of a journey up hill by rail on the Union Pacific Railroad be tween Echo and Wasatch. The hill is ascended by means of a Z, the train running up to a switch, then backing up the next gradient and flually forward. On the trip described the engine once or scice failed to reach the upper switch, and after running back, gathering speed and pushing with all force, came to dead stand a few rods from the desired point. The engineer then had all the brakes set and desving the train standing went down the hill and running up again struck the train with some force to endeavor to start it. The battering ram plan only succeeded in shaking the passengers from their seats. One more trial in the proper way took the train to the top.

Property-holders in Washington are be-coming much disgusted with their negro goverament. A correspondent says: "There is a report current which, if it has any solid foundation in fact, will increase the amount of property advertised for sale considerably the next year or two. The report also involves to some ex ent questions of politics and economy in our city affairs. It seems, so the report goes, that a large number of our wealthiest property-holders are much dissatisfied with the present management of city affairs, and say that the money realized from taxes and other sources is being squandered by the corporation authorities. They therefore propose to refuse to pay any taxes next year, and allow their property to be advertised for sale for the non-payment of the taxes. They will then have a year or two under the law in which to redeem their property, and by that time they hope the management of city affairs will be in other and better hands. The remedy for what i s deemed an evil seems an original and singular one to adopt, but it is nevertheless very segriously suggested by a great many of the largest property-holders. What they desire is that other hands shall expend the monies of the corporation, and believe they can accomplish their end by the course proposed.

-The Rochester Chronicle has been told new story about General Butler. The directors of a Boston bank, having their suspicions aroused, noutled their cashier that an exami nation of the books and cash in his possessio must be had. The cashier went to Butler and attack his case. He had misappropriated funds of the bank to the amount of $50,000. He asked whether he had not better own up, restore what he could, and lot his bonds make up the deficit. Butler, after some con sideration, directed him to attend the meeting of the directors, deny that there was anything wrong, and, if they desired, to surrender the keys and go home, leaving them in possession He did as directed, gave up the keys, and the directors, upon examining the books and each in the vadits, found a deficit, as they anticipated, of $50.000. They notified the cachier and his bondsmen, who in due time appeared accompanied by Butler, who, acting as s pokesman, inquired what the matter was. The directors informed him of the facts, and offered to compromise the matter by the return of the missing funds. General Butler coolly replied that his client had surrendered the keys to them, and that the defloit, if any, occurred after the directors were in poss The directors now began to see the dilemma in which they were placed and sent for a lawyer, only to find that they had made a false step; that they had no proper evidence of the smount of cash in the bank when surroudered by the cashier, and that in taking possession they had lost their only remedy. As it would not do to let the stockholders know how they had been overreached, the directors had to go to work and make up the loss out of their own pockets. They gave their defaulting cashier the certificate of character which he demanded, and he went to work in another bank in the mame city a few weeks afterward. _"A Dead Centieman Alive" is the is New York sensation, interpreted in the story of a Mrs. Walters, who buried her husband about a year agd. During her widowhood she lard, a blonde with a splendid physique and John Bright and the House of Lords. commanding figure, liking her so much that she took her to her home. The Villard soon introduced a Mr. Williston into the family, and he called occasionally to see both the widow and her charming protegee. It was not long before the young man made an impression upon the heart of Mrs. Walters. And it was not much longer before it became very evident that two years could hardly pass and leave Mrs. Walters a widow. And, strange as it may seem, Mile. Villard appeared to look favorably upon the suit of the young soldier. Indeed, she had been instrumental in forwarding the courtship, but had done so rather under cover, so that no complicity would appear between herself and Williston. One day Williston was suddenly taken ill and sent for Mrs. Walters. She came, of course, and he confessed to her that Jeannette Villard was his wife and that he was soon to die. But before he died he must be forgiven by Mrs. Walters-must have her swear, upon her bended knees, that his wife and child should be her care—should never feel want-should become as her own daughter and child. If she would do this, he would die happy. The oath was taken and Williston was supposed to die. Mrs. Walters at once entered upon the discharge of her sacred trust and presented the Villard with $30,000, after which the latter disappeared from New York. The disconsolate widow became half frantic with grief and sent a force of detectives to discover the body of the Villard, that it might be decently interred. Their efforts proved successful. The Villard was found, alive and living with Williston in a Western city. The widow was naturally utterly astonished; but she refused to institute any proceedings for the recovery of her money, which Williston and his accomplice coolly said had been a voluntary gift, ad-

The Asheville Railroad.

The Unionville Times charges the Charleston press with an entire neglect of the proposed extension of the Spartanburg and been ordered for the new line in New York City. Union Ballroad to Asheville, N. C., and demonstrates, very much to its own satisaction, the astounding facts that the Blue Ridge Bailroad is a swindle and a snare, that every man who says a good word for it is paid for his praise, and that there is no salvation for the State but in building at once a railroad from Spartanburg to Ashe> laid before the public the particulars of the Asheville Railroad scheme, and in more prosperous days it would doubtless have received some substantial help from this city. But there was no money to subscribe, and as resolutions do not build railroads in this part of the world, the matter was allowed Gladstone Cabinet will not go very far to drop. . It is plain enough, from the remarks of > the Times, that the Blue Ridge Railroad is looked upon in one quarter as the foe of the Asheville connection. This is not the proper position to be taken. The Blue Ridge Railroad, upon which se many millions had already been spent, was adopted by the Radicals as a party measure, and its completion was intended to be the crowning mercy of the Scott administration. Doubtless the expectation of commissions and percentages of various kinds had a great deal to do with the ease with which the Legislature passed the bill authorising the guarantee of additional millions. The bill became a law. It was evident that the Radicals wanted to have the road built, and as any one and reply, and reaches the following main con with two grains of sense can see that the clusions. 1. The development theory creates completion of the road must be of vast ben- more difficulties than it professes to remove, efit to the State, it was the wise course to and as the difference between man and the place the project before the public in the most favorable light. The advantages of the Rive Ridge Reitred are plain and the the Blue Ridge Railroad are plain and unmistakable. The how and why of the Radical movement in its behalf matters but little. By the funds of the State the road will be built, and the sconer it is done the better for us all.

We do not speak now of the millions already spent, which will be an utter loss if the road is not carried through. That would be a strong argument with business men, although it might have no effect on the Unionville Times. This point we waive, in view of the idiosyncracies of our upcountry contemporary, and simply say that, as a loan to the Blue Ridge Railroad has been authorized, and as the preceeds of the loan will certainly be spent, it is undoubtedly the prudent policy to help the project on, so that we may gain the full worth of our meney. There may be waste, no doubt; but the road once completed will be equal to double its cost.

Nor dees a support of the Blue Ridge Railroad necessarily involve opposition to the Asheville Road. We do not think that the project will be subsidized by the Legislature, and we do not desire to see the debt of the State in any way increased. The Asheville route will always be watched with interest, and will one day be an accomplished fact. Charleston and Columbia will give the scheme all the sid they can, and if the Log-islature should insist upon throwing a few millions at its head, we will endeavor to have them handled so as to fo as much good as possible. We are, however, opposed at this time to granting State subsidies to any porporation for any purpese whatever. As we have before said, the support of Ten News will be given to any movementoutside of the General Assembly-looking to the construction of a railroad to connect Spartanburg with Asheville; but we see no reason yet for withdrawing from the Blue Ridge Road one particle of the cordial sympathy which is the due of that important undertaking.

TER LETTER of our Columbia correspondent, printed in another column, centains the particulars of the breaking down of the Sprague canal project, some curious facts in regard to the trial of a Radical representative for murder, hints about the University examinations, a suggestion in regard to the bills of the Bank of the State, statistics of crime in Columbia, and a variety of other important and interesting news.

Ir will be seen by the letter of our Columbia correspondent, published this morning, that the Columbia canal will, in all probability, he put up again for sale, the last purchasers Senator Sprague and Colo-nel Pearce having so far failed to comply with the terms of their contract. So bursts ab coame acquainted with Mile. Jeannette Vil the Spragge bubble.

Mr. John Bright wrote a letter last week to a meeting in Birmingham, in which he said: "If the House of Lords delay the 'passage of the Irish Church bill, they will stimulate the discussion of subjects which might slumber for years. The value of "the constitution which gives a mejority in "one house in favor of, and in the other "house against, the given pelicy, may be questioned. Why is it that when the "Crown and Commons are in harmony with "the nation the Lords are in direct opposi-"tion! As long as the House of Lords act in harmony with the country, they may "go on for a long time; but when they "thwart its course they may meet with un-"pleasant accidents."

An explanation of this letter was demanded of the ministers in both heuses. Mr. Gladstone, in the Commons, said in reply, that the letter was written by Mr. Bright on his own responsibility, and that the government had no intention of threatening the House of Lords. He himself, and his colleague, Mr. Bright, both discouraged any popular action tending to interfere with the independence of that body. In the Lords, Earl Granville said the Cabinet was not responsible for the individual opinions of its members, and for himself he rejected Mr. Bright's language; but he had the authority of that gentleman for stating that he had no intention to express disrespeet to their Lordships, and that if any pain had been caused to them by his words he expressed profound regret. This was the simplest method of meeting a troublesome question. John Bright cares very little for the forms of diplemacy, and the square and rule of ministerial etiquette. It is his habit to speak out his thoughts without reserve, and he has already more than once been a thorn in the side of his more cautious colleagues. But John Bright is a power in the land. The people love and trust him, and Queen Victoria has given him more than one mark of her personal favor. While the ministers keep in the straight path without doubling or doubting, they will find in Mr. Bright a hard-working and earnest supporter. But with the first leaning towards a recalcitrant policy, or a refusal to admit the conclusions of the logic of events, the Quaker states-THE NEWS, as is well known, has already man will, in all probability, resign his seat in the Cabinet, and so free himself from the necessity of conniving at measures of which he cannot approve. England is convinced that John Bright is an honest and wellmeaning man, and the esteem of his countrymen is all the guerdon he desires. The astray in the popular mind while Mr. Bright is one of their number.

PRIMEVAL MAN: An Examination of some Recent Speculations. By the Duke of Argyll. New York: Rutledge & Sons. Charleston: Holmes' Book House.

In 1864 was published a lecture on "The Early Condition of Mankind," by Archbishop Whately, in which it was argued that "mere savages never did and never can, unaided, raise themselves into a higher position." In 1867, Sir John Lubbook read before the British Association for the Advancement of Science paper in reply to Archbishop Whately, the position being taken that "the primitive condition of mankind was one of utter barbarism.' The Duke of Argyll discusses both the lecture en his contemporaries. 2. All scientific evi dence is in favor of the conclusion that the whole human family is descended from a single pair, and the older that family the more possible and probable is this. 8. Man has always had instincts which afford all that is required as a starting ground for advance in the echanical arts; but is capable of mental and physical degradation, which accounts for the condition of the lowest types of mankind.

The Duke of Argyll writes clearly and plausibly, and is so orthodox in his views that he will gain many a disciple among churchmen. Some times he proves too much for his case, as in regard to the unity of the human race; but his style and manner are pleasing, and the book is one which will interest every reader. There is thought and reflection in this "Primeval Man," and it is not cumbered up with sesquipedalian words or esoteric phrases. Price $1 50.
